

Contents

Chapter 1: Introduction	9
1.1 Embracing the Enemy	9
1.2 Nationalism in the New South Africa	11
1.3 Nation as an "Imagined Community"	13
1.4 "Rainbow Nation", African Renaissance, or Country of "two Nations"?	14
1.5 The Research Design	15
Chapter 2: Nationalism – a Theoretical Perspective	19
2.1 Primordialists versus Constructivists	20
2.1.1 Primordialism: Arguments and Critique	20
2.1.2 Constructivism: The Major Theories	23
2.2 Different Types of Nationalism?	31
2.2.1 Ethno-Symbolism and Ethno-Nationalism	31
2.2.2 Staats- and Kulturnation	34
2.2.3 Nationalism or Patriotism?	36
2.3 The African Perspective	39
2.3.1 History of Nationalist Thought in Africa	40
2.3.2 Categorisation	42
2.3.3 Nationalism and other Forms of Identity in Africa	45
2.4 Conclusion	49
Chapter 3: ANC and African Nationalism – from Apartheid to the Present	51
3.1 African Nationalism within the ANC before and during Apartheid	52
3.1.1 Moderate Policies: the early Years of the ANC (1912 – 1943)	52
3.1.2 Towards Africanism: Anton Lembede and the ANC Youth League (1944 – 1947)	57
3.1.3 Charterism: The ANC in the 1950s	63
3.1.4 Return to Africanism: the Formation of the Pan-Africanist Congress	68
3.1.5 Black Consciousness and United Democratic Front	71
3.2 Transition of ANC Nationalism in Post-Apartheid: Continuities and Change ..	74
3.2.1 The Rainbow Nation	76
3.2.2 Thabo Mbeki: I am an African	77
3.2.3 The African Renaissance	79
3.2.4 South Africa: a Country of two Nations	81
3.3 Conclusion	81

Chapter 4: Analysis and Assessment of the Transition of African Nationalism 83

4.1 Analysis of Nation Concepts in Post-Apartheid South Africa..... 83

4.1.1 The African Renaissance 83

4.1.2 "Two Nation" 86

4.2 Non-Racialism or Racialism?..... 91

4.3 Political Implications..... 96

Chapter 5: Conclusion and Outlook 105

References 111