

Contents

List of Figures	7
List of Tables	9
Introduction
Theories of European Integration and the Inability to Study Actorness: A Change on the Horizon?	13
Petr Kratochvíl
Chapter I
The Dimensions of the EU's Actorness: External Recognition	23
Petr Kratochvíl, Ondřej Šimon
Chapter II
The Dimensions of the EU's Actorness: Attractiveness	35
Tomáš Rohrbacher and Martina Jeníčková
Chapter III
The Dimensions of the EU's Actorness: Internal Legitimacy	47
Kateřina Kočí (Čmakalová), Jan Martin Rolenc
Chapter IV
The Dimensions of the EU's Actorness: Framing	59
Petr Kratochvíl, Ondřej Novák, Petra Pojerová
Chapter V
Recognition of the EU and the Somali Maritime Piracy Problem	69
Ondřej Šimon

Chapter VI

Recognition of the EU and the Alter-Globalization Movement 89

Tomáš Rohrbacher

Chapter VII

The Attractiveness of the EU and the Integration Processes in Latin America 105

Martina Jeníčková

Chapter VIII

The Legitimacy and the Framing Power of the EU and Sweden's Foreign Policy 119

Jan Martin Rolenc, Petr Kratochvíl

Chapter IX

The Legitimacy and Framing Power of the EU: Integration and Immigration Policies of Selected Member States 139

Petra Pojerová

Chapter X

The Framing Power of the EU and the Online Communication of French Political Parties 157

Kateřina Kočí (Čmakalová)