

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	9
Preface.....	11
Introduction.....	15

PART I. A MORBID DEMOCRACY

1. Ortega y Gasset's Mass-man	33
1.1. Ortega y Gasset. The Revolt of the Masses and the mass-man	33
1.2. Ortega's aristocracy and elitism	39
1.3. Morbid Democracy	45
1.4. Ortega's State, Nation and Europe	51
1.5. Ortega and Simmel.....	58
2. The Hetero-direction of Crowds.....	65
2.1. Gustave Le Bon: The Psychology of Crowds	65
2.2. Beliefs and opinions of the crowd.....	70
2.3. Riesman: The Lonely Crowd	73
2.4. Canetti: The Masses and Power	76

PART II. RIGHT WING AND LEFT WING POPULISMS

3. Democracy: Evolution or Involution?	83
3.1. A "totalitarian democracy"?.....	83
3.2. The Origin of Democracy	87
3.3. "Audience Democracy"	92
3.4. A Populism that comes from Afar.....	96
3.5. Modes of Populism	100

4. Populism: From the Origins to Post-modern Times	105
4.1. Russian Populism.....	105
4.2. American Populism.....	107
4.3. Argentinian Populism.....	110
4.4. A Populist Europe?.....	113
4.5. A Populist Italy?.....	120
4.6. The Second Italian Republic and a number of populist features	126
4.7. The Movimento 5 Stelle [the Five Star Movement]	130
Conclusions.....	135
Bibliography	141